

MICHAEL CHARLES MAIBACH

JUST ONE PERSON

Playing solitaire
You learn to see,
That just one move
Can change reality.

That just one book
You choose to read,
Can change your mind
And plant a seed.

That just one friend
You choose to know,
Can help you learn,
And help you grow.

That just one lesson,
Hard or sweet,
Arrives with purpose,
To guide your feet.

That just one poem
Seemed silly then,
Returns in time,
Your heart to mend.

That just one tear
Shed in dismay,
Makes all the better
This happy day.

That just one person
Who comes along,
Can make your heart
Finally sing its song.

In spiritual quests
You finally see,
That just one prayer
Can change eternity.
