

MICHAEL CHARLES MAIBACH

"WHEN YOU KNOW"

When you know
Just whom you love,
Nothing else
Dare rise above.

When she enters
Any room,
Gone is sadness,
Away is gloom.

When you listen
To her clear voice,
You never question
That she's your choice.

Once she fondly
Takes your hand,
If danger threatens,
For her you'll stand.

When you wed
The vows you say,
A lifetime pledge
Begins that day.

As you thread
Your life as one,
No storms or furies
Can make undone.

MICHAEL CHARLES MAIBACH

As you bring
New life to earth,
It doubles what
To you she worth

Raise them up
Your children with care,
Until they're ready
To take to air.

As all the years
Go tumbling by,
Fond memories are
Then piled high.

Graying hair
And wrinkles soft,
Remind you both
Of heaven's loft.

Comes the day
Of Judgment fair,
Before your God
You stand a pair.

Copyright (c) 2016