

MICHAEL CHARLES MAIBACH

A POEM'S PURPOSE

A poet writes
His heart that day,
It is for him
A way to pray.

The reader finds
Those words as new -
Their life unique,
Their story true.

What the poet felt
It matters not,
The reader's task
Is to loose the knot.

To loose the knot
That's closed their heart,
The poem may serve
As their fresh start.

As you read a poem
Ask one thing -
Who might you love?
What bell to ring?
