

MICHAEL CHARLES MAIBACH

JUST THE WAY YOU WERE

It's just the way you were,
I had no words to say.
I knew in just one glance,
You'd steal my heart away.

Your blonde hair lit the room,
Your eyes were so sincere.
We lived so far apart -
Yet didn't seem to care.

Romantic - that's for sure,
Every moment was so sweet.
Each weekend when we met,
Your lips were such a treat.

Each night when I would call,
I loved to hear your voice -
As soft as was your skin,
You were my one true choice.

Each night I read a poem,
The title you'd repeat.
Each had a theme for us,
Our hearts would skip a beat.

We found a ring we liked,
One you wished to wear.
We made a note of it,
How we might find it there.

MICHAEL CHARLES MAIBACH

But storm clouds did appear,
Your parents did dissent.
They broke the spell for you,
My spirit they did rent.

We went our separate ways,
It broke my heart in two.
Silence was your vow -
What's happened now to you?

Copyright (c) 2016