

Michael Charles Maibach

""Yes', Every Day"

Whether a priest, or a rabbi,
A husband or a wife -
The lesson's just the same -
About the secret of your life.

Life's essence is a choice
No matter what you do,
No matter who you are,
This choice is up to you.

The only thing that matters
The only thing for sure,
Is the commitment that you make
Must be a promise that endures.

Whether as religious vows,
Or vows of wedded bliss -
It is a sacred choice for sure,
Not sealed with just one kiss.

It claims most all your days
And all your night times, too.
It is your one true choice,
You have to see it through.

It asks but one clear question
Of faith - or of your wife -
"Yes" must be your answer,
"Yes" becomes your way of life.

Michael Charles Maibach

The moral of the story,
Is a single word you say -
To the one you are committed
Say "yes" to every day...
